

Brian McCormick
GRAND BAY FOODS

One-time commercial fisherman Brian McCormick, his wife Linda and their team run Grand Bay Foods where 1½ million pounds of freshwater fish are processed every year for customers around the world and around the corner. Pickerel, sunfish, yellow perch and more come from Lake Ontario in season and other parts of Canada and the U.S. year round.

County chefs from high end restaurants to roadside cafes serve fresh Grand Bay fish, and renowned chef Jamie Kennedy chooses Brian's pickerel and perch for his Toronto restaurant and his own County kitchen.

Still a board member of the Ontario Council of Commercial Fisheries, Brian says "Demand for fresh fish has never dropped, and it's increasing as people get more health conscious." Succulent and bursting with flavour, Brian's fresh "crop" can be found all along the Taste Trail.
